

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD	7
I. POETRY IN THE TWENTIEH-CENTURY: THE LANGUAGE OF MODERNISM
Defamiliarization, the autonomy of art, and the audience	20
British and American poetic modernism	26
II. CIVILIZATION AND ITS MALCONTENTS: CULTURAL DECAY IN MODERN VERSE
A panorama of futility and anarchy: decline in T.S. Eliot	50
The center that cannot hold: cyclic dissolution in W.B. Yeats	57
An alternative conception: William Carlos Williams	66
Conspicuous corruption: Allen Ginsberg	70
Progressive dissolution: W.H. Auden	78
III. I SING MYSELF: AUTOBIOGRAPHY IN POSTWAR POETRY
Autobiography as reconciliation: Dylan Thomas	85
Autobiography as self-healing: Sylvia Plath	91
Autobiography as self-discovery: Elisabeth Bishop	101
Autobiography as a shared language: Adrienne Rich	107
Autobiography as an invention: Philip Larkin	114
IV. UNACKNOWLEDGEMENT LEGISLATORS: POLITICS IN MODERN VERSE
The political is the private: Yeats	124
Poetry makes nothing happen: Auden	132
Politics in the twilight zone: Seamus Heaney	141
Political blues: Langston Hughes	150
CITED WORKS	160